Fund Comment

South African equities and bonds delivered exceptional performance. The resources sector notably surged by 7% on the JSE in April, with gold and platinum stocks leading the rally. Reduced pessimism surrounding South Africa's upcoming elections also contributed to the strong performance of South African bonds. However, global equities and the local property market detracted from the Fund's overall performance, impacted by renewed inflationary pressures in the US. Federal Reserve Chairman Jerome Powell, in the latest meeting of the US Federal Reserve's Monetary Policy Committee, sought to temper market enthusiasm for rate cuts, now expected later in the year. Despite market volatility, the Fund remains well positioned to benefit from its exposure to risky assets. Volatility is anticipated to persist in South African markets until the election results are confirmed.

Who Should Invest

An investor who is seeking an investment that is comparable to a typical pension fund allocation, who is looking for a diversified portfolio and willing to be exposed to a high level of market volatility and typically has an investment horizon of 5 years and longer.
